

KODATOY—the Children's Movie Projector

now has a case of its own

Kodatoy case in maroon artificial leather. "Silvered" screen surface, 8¼ by 12 inches. Price, $3.

Now there's a convenient carrying case for Kodatoy—the Eastman movie projector for children. The youngsters are sure to welcome it. They can safely carry their Kodatoy wherever they like.

And it's more than just a case to carry and protect the Kodatoy. It's built to serve as an excellent screen as well. On the inside, one wall has a "silvered" screen surface. It can be set up anywhere—ready on the instant to project clear, brilliant movies.

This case—strong and sturdy—will accommodate either the hand- or motor-driven Kodatoy. And it's equally useful whether you're going away, or using Kodatoy at home. The case is finished in good quality maroon artificial leather. Screen surface measures 8¼ by 12 inches.

See Kodatoy—hand-driven model, $12; motor-driven, $18.50 (motor sold separately, $6.50)—at leading Kodak dealers', toy and department stores. Combined case and screen sold as an accessory. Price, $3. Eastman Kodak Company, Rochester, N. Y.
